	PROPO	SAL SUBMISSION
Title of project	Yes	Provide a title for the proposed project. (255- character limit)
Brief project description	Yes	In clear and concise layman's terms, provide up to three sentences that summarize the project. This description is for potential use in ISS National Lab and NASA external communications with the public and media. Do not use acronyms, jargon, abbreviations, or any proper names (including the name of the business/organization, or any trade or product name) in this brief project summary. (500- character limit)
Key words	Yes	Enter the most relevant words that describe the proposed project. (255-character limit)
Project objectives	Yes	In one or two paragraphs, describe the technology advancement being addressed. State the main research or technology development question and the goal of the project, then describe the project objectives. Be sure to address the project relevancy to the ISS National Lab mission, why the proposed work requires microgravity or the space environment, and whether the project builds on prior ISS research. (1,400-character limit)
Rationale for the ISS	Yes	Clearly describe where gravity is impeding progress on Earth, where space has been shown to produce relevant superior outcomes, and what properties are sought from in-orbit development. (1,000- character limit)

Information Requested	Required?	Description
Commercial applications and other Earth benefits	Yes	Summarize anticipated project outcomes and their terrestrial value. Describe how successful results would contribute to potential future commercial applications and/or public benefits, noting the market size or projected reach. Identify the organization that will commercialize the resulting product and/or application and describe how the commercialization efforts will be funded. Please cite the sources for any market size numbers, market value, population affected, or other statistics. (1,400-character limit)
Suppliers of support and/or commitment letters		If the offeror has received letters of commercial support or letters of commitment from collaborators, list the names of those organizations (or individuals) here. The offeror must attach the letters of support to the main proposal pdf.
